Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, USN
Chief of Naval Operations
Department of the Navy
Washington, D. C. 20350

Dear Admiral Moorer:

I would like to request permission for CIA's twenty-second Midcareer Executive Development Class -- a group of about 40 persons -- to visit the Polaris Missile Facility, ATLANTIC, and the Cooper River Replacement Site in Charleston, South Carolina on 17 November 1969.

Each Midcareer Class receives six weeks of training. The first five are concerned with management practices, briefings by senior officials on CIA and the Intelligence Community, and presentations by government and non-government speakers on major developments and national problems. During the sixth and final week, a field trip is made to installations of other departments and agencies so that the participants may gain an understanding of the contributions of these governmental components to our national objectives.

This class is scheduled to visit NORAD Headquarters in Colorado and a SAC missile site in Wyoming. A visit to the Polaris Missile Facility and the Cooper River Replacement Site would provide a vital element in the field trip by showing the students the significance of the nuclear submarine and the Polaris missile to U. S. national security.

If this request meets with your approval, additional information will be provided about the class. Final arrangements can be made by a member of your staff
